CURRENT MARKET REPORT

The market continues to be strong on all fronts with no real weaknesses to be seen inside the ring. We now have mature cows topping $1.40/lb, and 2year old heiferettes breaking $2.00-$2.25/lb on the extreme top, while slaughter bulls break $1.60/lb for the high yielding kind! It's been a long time since we have seen prices like this! Outside the ring we have all kinds of variables that could potentially affect prices moving forward, and many of these variables I have discussed previously. The cash market is extremely strong and looks like it's going to continue. There is some variability in price but per animal you're talking the difference between $3.00 per pound and $3.20 per pound for example, and that is usually always quality dependent, so that's hardly something to turn your nose up at. Moisture and growing conditions appear really good as we look toward turnout in the next 30-60 days, and that is supportive to prices as well. Moving forward, I would say bring your cattle to the Auction Ring for true price discovery; we have many bidders and buyers clamouring for cattle and that is where we are setting the new highs! Without your local auction market, you would not know what your cattle are really worth. Ranchers are finally getting paid, so support your local auction market and let's embrace the prices we are getting today and moving forward.
